Crime doesn't pay in Bay St. Louis. Especially when you rob the chief of police.
On Aug. 1, 2003,
Christopher Weidert, 20, of Bay St. Louis broke into the home of Frank McNeil, Bay

St. Louis' chief of police. Weidert, who said he had a drug problem, estimated he stole between $4,000 and $5,000 worth of items from McNeil's home.

Weidert, who said he was in a relationship with McNeil's daughter at the time, claimed that she provided him with information on how to break in. He said that most of the money was spent on drugs.

who allegedly beat a neighbor with a baseball bat was arrested Friday following a traffic stop, and is charged with aggravated assault with a deadly weapon, according to Sheriff Steve Garber.

The victim a 47-year-old Pearlington resident," was struck by a ball but and suffered a shattered knee cap and a broken ankle," Investigator John Luther said Tuesday.

Luther continued, "A warrant for the arrest of Billy Ray Raines, Jr., 24, of Pearlington, was issued following the incident. The victim was initially transported to Hancock Medical Center and a few days later had surgery at Charity Hospital in New Orleans."

"Raines was stopped for a traffic violation by Agent Johnny Alison on July 30 and arrested for the aggrawated assault on June 29. He was lodged in the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility in lieu of a $50,000 bond," Luther reported.

The altercation apparently followed a dispute between the suspect and victim, according to Luther, who is investigating the case.

Assisting Agent Alison in making the arrest were Major Matt Karl and Deputy John Bounce.

Congressman Taylor held a question and answer session in Bay St. Louis at a town meeting on Tuesday.

While Taylor fielded question on nearly every hot topic in national politics today - ranging from the war in Iraq to universal healthcare - much of the discussion centered around rapidly-increasing national debt.

Taylor presented figures available http://www.publicdebt.treas .gov, that indicate the national debt has increased from more than $5.6 trillion to more $7.3 trillion since President George W. Bush's Jackson's breast. You want show me a finished building budget was nassed on to talk about in moral? I can in Biloxi I say don't close it.

"The result of (Bush's) revenue decreases is a trillion dollar increase in the national debt," Taylor said.

While Taylor conceded that the country was currently involved in a foreign war, he pointed out the the total cost for every war America had been involved with--from

Osama is still peeved about the decline of Islamic civilization—once the world's greatest. Stated yet another way, he is deeply disturbed by this very bad

His second motivation for a declaration of war against the United States arises from the fact that since the 1930s Saudi leaders have allowed foreigners into the interior of the holy land, including Americans. For centuries only the faithful were allowed into the region, Hijaz, which con-tained the two holy cities of Islam-Mecca and Medina. Until about 1930 visitors, including diplomats, were not allowed in at all, not even to the political capitol turn in Islamic history and Riyadh. They were restricthopes by his holy war to cored to the coastal city of Jedda. Osama claims that.

Contractor wants to truck in sand for beach project

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER Staff Writer

The contractor for a county beach renourishment project, Great Southern Dredging, made a request to Supervisors Monday to change the contract agreement to allow sand to be. trucked in, rather than dredged. Trucking from local sand pits would allow the county to by-pass the process for dredging permits.

Great Southern had suggested limiting truck traffic to 120 trucks a day to bring in the 70,000 cubic yards of sand that will be used in the renourishing project. Supervisors denied the request because they said damage to local roads by the heavy trucks, and problems from the increased traffic would more than outweigh the benefits of by-passing the permitting process.

Contractors in another sand beach project, the newly finished beach at Bayou Caddy, have requested $38,935 in additional funds in consideration of the additional yards of sand required at the project. Another contractor also had to be brought in to complete grading the slope after dredging, at an additional cost of about $43,000, but no compensation was requested for this cost.

Bill Mitchell, of Brown and Mitchell, engineers for the project, made the request for the contractor, because he said he felt that they had done such an excellent job on the recently completed

More than 187,114 yards of sand at a cost of $600,000 was used in the $866,552 project. Supervisors took the matter under consideration.

In other business: Supervisors will send a request to the Nature Conservancy asking that funds from the proposed sale of Mike's Island property be used to purchase land in the Buffer Zone that could be used for a spray irrigation project for one of the two proposed water treatment plants. The Navy SEALs have proposed a live fire training range on Mike's Island property. If the plan goes through they will purchase Mike's Island and additional privately owned property, all located in the Buffer Zone. Stennis Airport getting a multi-million $ facelift

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER Staff Writer

Low bidder for a multimillion dollar construction project at Stennis International Airport is Warren Paving at $3.9 million, airport manager Bill Cotter told Port and Harbor Commissioners this week. Only two other bids were received on the project, one coming in at the engineers estimate of $4 million and on coming in at about $6 million Cotter said.

The project will widen and overlay the entire 8,500 foot length of taxiway A, strengthening the taxiway and making it more accommodating to large aircraft. Currently the taxiway is between 50 ft. and 60 ft.

The project is only one of several underway at the airport. Garber Engineers is about 50 percent complete with design plans for a new 85 ft. control tower, said Cotter. Designs call for the building to be constructed from split face blocks. The tower will be located just South of the two sets of Thangers on the east side of the runway.

Plans originally called for the building to be a little further south. Cotter said, but preliminary assessment of the terrain found the proposed location to be mostly wetlands. The new location is about 20 feet above sea level, Cotter said.

The FAA Contract Tower Program will pay 100 percent of the cost to man the tower, said Cotter. When the tower is completed plans call for it to be manned from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. The hours may change according to need, The tower will bring in traffic that is not allowed to land at airports without manned control towers, Cotter said.

The airport is also the recipient of a $30,000 grant to increase airport security.

Commissioners announced that the airport will be losing a long time tenant, Phillips Aviation. Phillips will relocate to the new Picayune airport at the end of August. The business has been at Stennis for more than 16 years.

The U.S. Coast Guard celebrates 214 years of dedicated service

Coast Guardsmen began celebrating 214 years of service dedicated America's lifesavers and guardians of the sea on Day Guard Wednesday.

The U.S. Revenue Cutter Service was formed on Aug. 4, 1790 when the first Congress authorized the construction of 10 cutters to enforce trade and tax laws of the new nation. Since then, the service, after joining other government agencies to become the U.S. Coast Guard in 1915, has broadened its scope to cover many aspects of maritime law, safety and homeland security.

Its mission is to protect the public, the environment and U.S. economic interest in the nation's ports and waterways, along the coast, on international waters or in any maritime region as required to support national security.

Today's Coast Guard serves the people of the world in all manners of maritime service through dedication to various missions:

Search and rescue is one of the Coast Guard's oldest missions. Minimizing the loss of life, injury or property damage or loss by rendering aid to persons in distress and property in the maritime environment has always been a Coast Guard priority.

The Coast Guard is the nation's leading maritime law enforcement agency has broad, multiand jurisdictional faceted authority.

The operational law enforcement mission is directed primarily in the areas of boating safety, drug interdiction, living marine resources, alien migrant interdiction and responding to vessel incidents involving violent acts or other criminal activity.

The Coast Guard is the lead federal agency for maritime drug interdiction. Since 1890, it has been a key player in combating the flow of illegal drugs to the United States.

The Coast Guard's mission is to reduce the supply of drugs from the source by denying smugglers the use of air and maritime routes in the Transit Zone, a six million square mile are the Caribbean including Sea, Gulf of Mexico and Eastern Pacific.

The Coast Guard is also responsible for the placement and maintenance of aids to navigation in U.S. waters. These aids include lighted and unlighted beacons, ranges, leading lights and buoys as well as sound signals associated with these aids.

The Coast Guard's homeland security mission is nothing new.

It is more visible today than it was prior to the tragic events of Sept. 11, 2001, but it is just as important as it was when we first began protecting our national sovereignty 214 years ago. The Coast Guard maintains a clear vision and a keen sense of vigilance while keeping watch for threats to our security and those who would do us

"Whether we're saving lives at sea or protecting our country against maritime threats, we take great pride in our mission, our heritage and our unwavering commitment to ensuring the safety and security of America- today, tomorrow and into the future," said Rear Adm. Robert F. Duncan, Eighth Coast Guard District commander.

The idea was discussed setting any more such conbriefly in meetings Monday and Tuesday nights, but it didn't seem to rouse much support at the City Council session. Tuesday's meeting later went into executive session, so officials could discuss annexation matters behind closed doors.

Waveland and Bay St Louis are locked in a court battle over annexation, with, both cities eveing the lands along Highway 603, between Highway 90, and Interstate 10. In some key areas, ripe for development, the city annexation bids

With the case headed for trial in November, the governing bodies of both cities have taken the unusual step of holding private, joint meetings to discuss a possi-ble out-of-court settlement. Thriffiley and Mayor Eddie Favre have been pushing for such a settlement, say-

Last week, the second meeting between the cities adjourned without officials

Thriffiley, meanwhile, said the East Hancock Fire District construction project is a particularly relevant issue for discussion. The district is headquartered at the southeastern corner of Chapman and Washington roads, just outside Bay St.

Thriffiley said the new facility, if built correctly, could serve area residents as a multipurpose fire and police substation: The district's existing facility lies within the Bay's proposed annexation.

At Rafferty's suggestion, however, council agreed to ask its building official to determine whether Lagarde is in violation of city zoning laws, for creating what amounts to a scrap storage facility on the residential land. City officials and Lagarde have been at odds for more than 12 years over the status of the small lot. At one point, the city demolished dilapidated house on the lot.

Angels -- grand slam

Falgout said this week's influx of visitors could only prove positive for the county's economy.

"It's going to be a tremendous boost," Falgout said.
"We proved that last year. That's one of the reasons (we) went after it again."

Falgout said preliminary figures from the tourism bureau estimated a gain of 1.3 million dollars spent on hotels, restaurants and entertainment in the past

Fifteen Latin American nations participated in the workshop titled "Beyond Safety of Navigation," which focused on multibeam equipment and visualization techniques used in hydrographic surveying. At the workshop, industry representatives addressed the development and advancements of modern multibeam sonar and supporting technologies.

Multibeam sonar systems aid in the study of hydrography and hydrographic surveying, the charting or bottom mapping of water bodies. The sonar system uses sound waves to provide hydrographers with an image of the seafloor. Multibeam sonar systems are usually attached to sea vessels and can transmit and receive soundings at both horizontal and vertical

The goal of the NAVO-CEANO workshop is to provide multibeam situational awareness," said Capt. Best.

NAVOCEANO's commanding officer. "By this, we mean providing information and knowledge on hydrographic survey operations, employing multibeam sonar systems, visualization tools for data analysis and data display."

The data collected from surveys using the multibeam sonar are used to generate marine products such as nautical charts, which aid in the safety of navigation of commercial and military vessels. The information is also used in the protection of the marine environment, the development of databases and models for coastal zone management and for studying the effects that hazardous spills have on ocean behavior.

TEN YEARS AGO

July 31, 1994 - The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce says vehement opposition to some recent development proposals in Bay St. Louis has gone too far - possibly damaging the community's image. "The approach taken by some to oppose these developments has been somewhat embarrassing for the community, resulting in personal attacks on reputable individuals and a growing divisiveness in our community that is counter-productive. Some feel that we are gaining a reputation as a community opposed to growth and development. Chamber president Dave Treutel, Jr. Treutel made the statements in a letter to Les Fillingame, chairman of the city Planning and Zoning Commission offering the chamber's help in developing a comprehensive plan for the city. With the city's economy on the upswing and demands on the infrastructure growing, in some area, "we simply are not fully prepared to meet the various demands being presented," Truetel said.

TWENTY YEARS AGO August 2, 1984 - Monday the Hancock County Board of Supervisors heard from several of their constituents who want Texas Flat Road paved. Hilda Bourg and Mary Callier of the Hancock County Park Commission both spoke for the needing of improvements to the road. So did Harvey Nixon, vice-president of Moore and Nixon Associates management/development consultants of Picayune.

-The Bay St. Louis City Council got a $67,100 surprise Tuesday night with its amended general budget. The budget amended from $1,548,700 to $1,782,870 for the fiscal year that will end in September, contained about $67,100 in cost overruns for the street department alone. The original budget, for the street department was $155,000. It was expanded to $222,100 to include additional money for equipment repair and maintenance, City Clerk Eddie Fayre told the council. Favre said some of the overrun was caused by the need to purchase or rent additional equipment and by some unanticipated engineering fees, but most of the $67,100 was for repair and maintenance of old equipment.

ne of the lyrics in a Jimmy Buffett song says, "I have a Caribbean soul I can barely control," and I must admit to the affliction, too!

Sure, the water and the laid-back atmosphere are great, but the plant life is what I love. It was in the Caribbean that I first discovered a passion for gingers, especially hedychiums.

They are all over the islands and appear to be native, but actually they were brought in hundreds of years ago and have now made themselves at home. Luckily, many of these gingers will do the same in your garden.

If you thought ginger was an herb or spice, you are right: it is both. The edible ginger you buy at the store and grate for those zesty chicken dishes is Zingiber officinale. The Tumeric comes from the ginger known as Curcuma longa.

Girls hit the floor for Volleyball 2004.

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II Staff Writer

Those lazy, hazy days of summer have finally given way to the start of school. And, with the start of school comes sports. The girls take to the courts in the first sport of the school year -VOLLEYBALL!

Bay High, Hancock and Our Lady Academy can all boast of their state playoff appearances last season with OLA claiming their second consecutive state title on the court.

As competitive high school volleyball grows each year, changes will accompany the sport. Last year, one of the main changes was the state title was split into two seperate classes. This year, the major change is in the scoring of the match. In 2004, all high schools will use rally scoring instead of side out scoring.

In the past, a point could only be made while the team possessed the serve. Now, a point can be earned on every serve. Also, last season a team that won the best 2 of 3 games won the match. In 2004, the teams will play a best of 5 games. The first four games will be played to 25 with the fifth game, if necessary, will be played to 15. Most coaches are eager to see the changes as it alters some strategies that teams have used in the past. Bay High Lady Tigers head coach Liz Bosarge commented, "The rally scoring will definitely make it interesting. It will take some time of goaltender Randy Hevey (HEE-

a major change; however, in the long run it is better for the game."

Denise Ladner, fourthyear Hancock head coach, stated, "These are college rules and the state of Louisiana is already using scoring like this. It will make the games very interesting especially if a stronger team is struggling with their serve."

All three schools - Bay High, Hancock and OLA all advanced to the post-season in 2003. Bay High eventually lost in the state semi-finals to OLA who won the state title last year. Hancock placed second in their division and advanced to the first round of the playoffs. The Lady Hawks were eventually put out of the playoffs by St. Martin.

The Lady Tigers of Bay High have to replace five players from last year's squad. Returning to varsity action this are Kendra Reed, Tamara Reed and Lindsey Trotter. Kendra Reed is an outside hitter for Bay High. Tamara Reed is a setter for the Lady Tigers while Lindsey Trotter lines up as a hitter.

Bay High head coach Liz Bosarge stated, "We are looking forward to getting on the court. We have lost some key people that we have to replace. With the addition of our returning varsity players, we have a few younger players that will be just fine in the long run. We held an on-site camp last week. Our play-

The Lady Hawks of Hancock placed second in their division last season and advanced to the first round of the state playoffs before being put out by St. Martin. The Lady Hawks open the 2004 season with revenge in mind against St. Martin.

Hancock head coach Denise Ladner commented, "We are hoping to come out strong. We have five seniors on the squad and I have had most of them since they were freshman. We attended a team camp at LSU July 31st and August 1st. We are looking forward to starting the season."

Three returning seniors for the Lady Hawks are Courtney Vincent, Tiffany Appel and Cate Craft. Vincent plays the backline and is a strong defender. Appel is an outside hitter with a strong serve. Craft is a setter and is the team's vocal leader. Two new seniors to the squad that will provide some added athleticism are Ashley Boehnel and Erica Moran.

Boehnel is one of the basketball state's top recruits and will be playing her first year of volleyball. She is an outside hitter for the Hawks. Moran also comes over from the basketball court but has played competitive volleyball in the past. Moran is an athlete that will be utilized at various positions. Boehnel and Moran were key members of the Lady Hawks' run to the 2004 Class 5A state basketball title.

The OLA Crescents have been a fixture in the state playoffs for the past few seasons including three consecutive trips to the state championship game. OLA won the title in 2002 and 2003 and was state runnerup in 2001. They have also claimed four consecutive Division 8 championships. Last year, the Crescents posted a record of 26-12.

OLA head coach Mike Meyers commented, "We will be a young team once again this year with only one senior, Jordan Fisher. Our biggest challenge will be replacing our setter from the last three years in Rachel Cranford.

OLA returns 10 lettermen from their state title team in 2003. The returning starters are middle blockers Kaylee Schmitt (middle blocker, Annie Giardino (middle blocker). Jordan Fisher (outside hitter), Lauren Renz (outside hitter), Rachel Cuevas (outside hitter), Sarah Loiacano specialist). (defensive Margaret Rittiner (defenspecialist), and Amanda Meyers (defensive specialist).

The start of school is right around the corner. If you are wanting to get a shot of some of the best vollevball action in the state, it is right here in Hancock The Wilmer County. Seymour Gymnasium, the Father Peter Mockler Gymnasium, and Hawk

On Tuesday, July 27, the Mississippi Sports Hall of Fame announced a major change in the Conerly Trophy presentation for 2004. The award, which is presented to Mississippi's top collegiate football player, will be broadcast live on Public Mississippi Broadcasting beginning

December 1 at 7pm.

The award has been presented annually since 1996 and is named after the former Ole Miss All-American and NFL All-Pro quarterback Charlie Conerly. A panel of 60 media members from across the state choose the recipient.

Last year's winner, quarterback Eli Manning of Ole Miss, became Mississippi's with this year's award on first ever overall No. 1 pick in the NFL draft in April 2004. Manning is also the only two-time winner having claimed the award in

The award presentation will be broadcast live from the Mississippi Sports Hall of Fame in Jackson. This change in presentation means that no formal dinner will accompany the award presentation.

The event will be a one-hour show and will include interviews with the three finalists, their coaches and parents. The traditional guest speaker for the event will now become a "guest host". This year's host has not been chosen; however, officials are wanting to bring in a major sports broadcasting personality. Previous guest speakers are Frank Gifford and Spencer Tillman.

South is the butterfly ginger, Hedychium coronarium. White, butterfly-shaped flowers top the tall, dark green-leafed canes with a fragrance as enticing as a gardenia.

The scarlet ginger, Hedychium coccineum, is showier. This exotic-looking ginger features 10-inchlong, orange to red floral spikes produced on 6- to 7foot canes. If you have decided to give them a try, know that gingers thrive in dappled shade or filtered light. Occasionally I see some looking good in almost full sun, but this is the excep-

Think about the areas around your home that are microclimates, offering a few degrees of added winter protection. Perhaps you have a protected area next to a wall on the south or east side of your home, or under large oaks.

Gingers need plenty of moisture and fertilizer to keep them growing vigorously. Feed in early spring and again in mid-summer with a slow-release 2-1-2 fertilizer or 12-6-6 with minor nutrients. Remove frost-bitten stalks in the fall, and add a protective layer of mulch. Gingers combine wonderfully with bananas, cast iron plants, coleus, elephant ears, ferns, philodendrons, hostas, caladiums, impatiens, begonias and many more.

Why grow hedychium gingers? When the dog days of summer make many of us cast a wishful eye toward the Arctic for relief, and our gardens are looking tired, the ginger really starts to put on a show. Try some and you also may have a Caribbean soul you can barely control!

away from it." "Camille is still the hurricane by which all other American hurricanes are measured," Hearn writes. Only Camille hit land at the peak intensity of Category 5, killing 172, including 41 missing and never found.

'The damage in today's dollars," Hearn writes, "totaled and estimated $11 billion.

Winds were clocked at more than 200 miles per hour, tidal waves surged to nearly 35 feet, and the barometric pressure of 26.85 inches neared an all-time low. Survivors of the killer storm date events as BC and AC-Before Camille and After Camille. They still wince at the sound of chain saws which ran almost incessantly for months after August 17, 1969.

Camille: Hurricane Monster Storm of the Gulf Coast tells the history of this natural disaster through the eyes and the memories of those who survived the traumatic winds and tides. Their first hand accounts, compiled a decade after the storm and ing," Hearn quotes Williams archived at the University

Rawls to give 'Magical' performance in BSL

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The "Velvet Voice", Lou Rawls will perform two shows at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis on August 20th and 21st at 9 p.m. Rawls is known for hits like: "Love Is A Hurtin' Thing," "You'll Never Find (Another Love Like Mine)" and "Dead End Street." Tickets for these performances are: $19.95, $24.95 & $29.95 and are available through the Casino Magic Box Office, by calling 1-800-5-MAGIC-5 or through any Ticketmaster outlet.

His voice is distinctive and instantly recognizable as any in music. From his early days in gospel to his collaborations with Sam Cooke; from the "Dick Clark Show" at the Hollywood Bowl in 1959 to opening for The Beatles in 1963 at Crosley Field in Cincinnati; from his monologues in the Seventies that presaged rap music to becoming a "crossover" artist before the term was invented, there has been one constant in Lou Rawls' career - a voice that one critic has called "sweet as sugar, soft as velvet, strong as steel, smooth as butter.'

In his 40-some years as a recording artist, spanning astonishing 70-plus albums, three Grammy awards, 13 Grammy nominations, one platinum album, five gold albums and a gold single, Rawls has epitomized the ultimate song stylist. "I've gone the full spectrum - from gospel to blues to jazz to soul to pop - and the public has accepted what I've done through it all. I think it means I've been doing something right at the right time." Bringing R&B to pop, Chicago to Los Angeles, black to white, Rawls has been one of the most suc-
